

STUDY WORK
OF MISSIONSW. E. Geil Plans a
World-Round
Tour.TEACHINGS AND
THE PEOPLESHe Will Work in the Interest of Morals and Religion While on the Way.

William Edgar Geil, evangelist, traveler, scientist, who will be the lecturer during a series of meetings which will be held next week, has a most interesting personality. He possesses the charm of a much-travelled and thoughtful man. In no way can he be considered a type of the itinerant evangelist; even his conversation marks him as an ethnologist rather than a missionary, as a student of types than a religionist.

Mr. Geil was found yesterday at the residence of the Rev. W. M. Kincaid, resting after an operation which had been made to relieve a swelling in the throat which had caused him no little pain and inconvenience during his address Sunday evening. Mr. Geil's present tour will take him around the world and his studies will be directed toward anthropology and the influences of the religious work of all sects upon peoples.

Mr. Geil talked interestingly and readily. "While I am essentially a Christian man," said he, "and endeavor as such to assist all Christian needs and enterprise in communities visited by me, the actual object of my visit is to ascertain in the portion of the world marked out for my travels the exact bearing and influence that missionary work, be it that of Buddhist, Christian, Catholic or Mormon, has had upon the lives and conditions both mental and physical, of the inhabitants of these various lands. I am sent by no sect, no particular creed, my expenses are amply provided for, and I accept no recompense for whatever work I may do, to the end that I may bring a perfectly unbiased mind to bear upon the situations presented.

"The question of the good or harm done by missionary endeavor in foreign lands, especially in the Orient, is one that is of great interest, not only to professing Christians but to the world at large. Mark Twain's charge against missionary actions in China, with which I myself do not agree, has helped to stir up this matter, and it is in relation with these adverse doubts and opinions that I am making this journey. Charges have been brought to my personal notice that missionaries in various parts of the world were living in luxury. For instance, it was claimed that a missionary in the Orient was covering his floor with valuable rugs, taking these carpets at American valuations, and forgetting that the same rugs could be obtained on the spot at bargain prices. If, indeed, they were not actually presents from local merchants.

"I firmly believe that here in Hawaii the first missionaries did excellent work, and I expect to be able to find some valid reason, outside of the generally accepted one, for the anti-missionary feeling that I am told exists among the natives. The decadence of active missionary work here I fail to understand. I hear that there are many abuses prevalent in this community that, surely, under Christian rule, should be actively crusaded against. These are the matters upon which I intend to speak during my stay—the 'humbugs' of the City. You will have to excuse my furnishing you with the features that I intend to take up, as there are many things that are better said first through the medium of oratory than that of black and white."

A series of evangelistic services will be conducted by Mr. Geil in the Central Union Church commencing next Monday. There will be lectures upon helpful and instructive religious topics in the afternoon, including the lecture of Mr. Geil's late experiences in Laodicea, and in the evening, mass-meeting services. The methods to be adopted by Mr. Geil, while in many cases new, will be carried on with all the strength of a vigorous manhood, as well as in the light of considerable experience as a persuader of men. Mr. Geil has conducted many successful gospel campaigns in Western Pennsylvania, and is well known in the East as an earnest and thorough worker, being invariably successful in drawing crowds to his meetings.

Mr. Geil, in the itinerary laid out by him for investigating the results of foreign missions, American and otherwise, will tour throughout Micronesia, Polynesia and Australasia. The Philippine Islands will be visited for a lengthy period en route to Japan, where a private yacht has been placed at his disposal in the Inland Seas. Vladivostok comes next and a trip into Siberia along the rails and the new railroad. Crossing the desert of Gobi, the adventurous traveler will skirt Tibet and advance through Afghani, Siam, Burma and the British possessions in the Far East. Arabia is to be visited in the prospective; then down the coast of Africa to Mozambique via the Cape, and around the Dark Continent to the Congo river settlements. The time spent in the neighborhood of Tibet and Mecca will, of course, be fraught with peril, but for that contingency near Mecca, Mr. Geil is already armed, having been through the Turkish insurrections of some few years ago.

Mr. Geil expects to investigate fully into the social evils of these Islands and their causes and will aim at possible remedies, one of which undoubtedly will be a stirring up of evangelical missions in this City. Mr. Geil has promised to speak some plain truths in the meetings to be held and the proceedings are likely to be of an interesting of not a sensational nature. There is, without doubt, abundant room for evangelical work in this, as in all, communities, and the public generally have not shown themselves averse to crusades against vice, which is of course practically what Mr. Geil's work here will amount to, while he is meantime collecting data for his original mission.

Tickets have sold well for the Boys' Brigade entertainment. One man sold high on to 100 himself and one of the young ladies of the Kindergarten Training School sold fifty in two days. This is only one of the signs that there will be a full house. The advertisers themselves realize it. A few days ago, when interviewed, they felt they had plenty of time; now they see that their credit is at stake. So the schemes to carry off the award have had to crystallize into a shape that a stage manager can handle. Mr. Adams, who is an adept, will have hold of the reins from this time on.

This is the program, subject to such change as Mr. Adams may have to make to allow for shifting of stage settings where too much heavy material might come together:

1. Evening Bulletin.
2. Union Feed Co.
3. E. O. Hall & Sons.
4. Pacific Mutual Insurance Co.
5. Lewis & Co.
6. Bergstrom Music Co.
7. National Cash Register.
8. Hawaiian Gazette Co.
9. Bruce, Waring & Co.
10. Davey & Co.
11. Phillips & Co.
12. Bailey's Honolulu Cyclery.
13. California Feed Co.
14. Pacific Hardware Co.
15. W. W. Dimond.
16. Hobron Drug Co.
17. Hawaiian Electric Co.
18. Pearson & Potter.
19. Kerr & Co.

As many of these numbers are musical and none can occupy more than four minutes, there is little chance for tedium. There are hardly two in the same line of business—certainly no two pushing just the same kind of goods—unless the two newspapers might be cited as an illustration to the contrary.

Few of the contesting people are willing to say to the public just what the nature of their "stunts" will be, as they are depending considerably for the success of their "ads" on a surprise. In response to inquiries as to the basis upon which the award will be made, it has been learned that the judges will meet soon to determine rules of the tourney which will be published before the affair. Of the judges, it has been reported that Mrs. W. G. Irwin will leave for the Coast on the Sonoma, in which case another lady will be added to the list, which now comprises Mrs. Dr. McGrew, Mrs. S. M. Damon, Mrs. Frear, Mrs. MacIntosh.

Tickets can be purchased at Wall, Nichols Co., and if seats are all sold purchasers of tickets can have their money refunded.

Music will occupy such "between the acts" interims as the energetic management will permit.

FRANKED ENVELOPES PASS.

The Old Free Correspondence Wiped
Out by National Officials.

Territorial franked envelopes have gone. This is the result of the verdict of the postal authorities at Washington, in regard to the use of such envelope for official business. When Hawaii was a separate nation, it had its own postal system and its officials used the Hawaiian "official business" envelopes, and since annexation it has been the custom to use Territorial franked envelopes, and great quantities of them, at that.

The postal authorities at Washington were made acquainted with the condition of affairs, and they promptly sent orders to put a stop to their use. All the departments of the local government made free use of these envelopes in their correspondence, but hereafter all letters put in such envelopes will be seized and the sender thereof may be liable to a heavy fine.

The new order does not affect Governor Dole, Secretary Cooper, nor any other Federal officers, in their use of franked envelopes, but they must use only those allowed by the United States Government, for the transaction of official business.

States and Territories have no right to issue franked envelopes, such right belonging only to the National Government, which allows the members of Congress and officials of the various departments to use them.

In speaking of the matter, Assistant Postmaster Kenake said the use of franked envelopes had been quite large on account of the officials of departments writing to one another and as a consequence the postoffice bureau had been deprived of a great deal of revenue.

ELEVATOR CAR NOT THERE.

Mossman Narrowly Escapes a Fall
Into Judd Building Cellar.

A. Mossman, known as "Shanks," had a narrow escape from being quite seriously injured in the Judd building yesterday afternoon.

He entered the building, and seeing the elevator boy sitting reading a newspaper, thought the car was in position. Without saying a word he opened the elevator door and attempted to step into the car, but it was not there, having been stopped at the second floor.

He realized his mistake too late, but throwing himself backward managed to escape falling to the cellar. As it was, he suffered a severe sprain of the right shoulder.

ROMANCE OF THE SIERRA—
LOVE CURES MAL DE MER

Love laughs at seasickness as merrily as he laughs at locksmiths or any other odd thing which dares to stand in the way of Cupid's arrows.

The big, new steamship Sierra, on her last trip from San Francisco to this port, had a romance all of her own; a romance which was known at the time to the many passengers on the vessel, but which has only just been made public by one of the most deeply interested parties.

Aboard the Sierra there was a young lady, accomplished, beautiful, captivating as well as young, and, after the Sierra had gotten past the Golden Gate and was on her way to Honolulu, dreadfully seasick. She is an Australian heiress, and was on her way home to the Colonies, where her father owns and manages a large sheep station. She had been visiting friends in the East.

James Leslie McComb, well known to Honoluluans as an energetic and eloquent Irishman who has kissed the Blarney Stone, was also a passenger on the Sierra. He had been to the Coast on business connected with a corporation which is about to be formed in this city, and was returning to the Paradise of the Pacific.

Early in the voyage McComb had the honor of an introduction to the beautiful Australian heiress. It was a case of love at first sight. The persuasive tones and gallantry of the gentleman, and the beauty and sweet disposition of the lady settled the matter then and there.

The earth's atmosphere and problems of far-reaching importance connected with it are now to be studied in a new way, opened up by Prof. Lively and Dewar. Air is first liquefied at 200 degrees C. below zero, and it is then freed from every trace of nitrogen, argon, and carbon compounds, after which the more volatile portion is distilled over into spectrum tubes for examination. The tubes have been found to show brilliant spectra of hydrogen, helium and neon, with a large number of lines of unknown origin. Reasons exist for inferring an interchange of light gases between the atmosphere and outside space, and a search has been made for spectral lines characteristic of nebulae, the sun's corona, and the aurora. The lines thus far observed suggest the presence in the air of traces of an unknown gas existing in the nebulae, and possibly of a coronal substance, but give no certain indications of anything connected with the aurora.
